FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1886.

A LEGISLATIVE SCENE.

When Mr. Gibson was announcing bills that had received the royal assent yesterday, he came to the one for making the Hawaiian version the binding one in the interpretation of the laws. He had just read the title, when Mr. Kaulukou and several other reactionaries interrupted him with a great clamor of applause. The member for Hilo interjected some distasteful remarks about the haoles (foreigners). He and his allies were, however, grievously taken back when the Premier, as soon as he had a chance to proceed, stated the bill just mentioned had been disallowed by His Majesty. It is a matter for congratulation to courts and litigants that this extremely silly bill has been prevented from becoming law. If the royal vote was only exercised in scotching legislation that is mischievous besides not being wanted by the people, it would never be thought of as a prerogative involving the curtailment of a popular right, particularly while such a Legislature as the present one is the best obtainable.

STILL MORE.

The treasury cormorant still cries for more, after the Appropriation Bill has been submitted to the final process of inflation. There is a suspicious look about a resolution for an additional $11,000 or so at this juncture. It would be a good precedent to establish to make public officers responsible for their gross blunders, instead of having the public pay for them. By the way, what has the Legislature to do with the Crown Land Commissioners in any case? They make no account of their transactions to the Legislature, except in any matter where there is a pretext for bleeding the taxpayers.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Mr. Kaai waited till he was sure his vote would not hurt the tax bill, then threw it against the measure of spoliation. Has he ever heard of the danger of trying to sit on two stools at the same time?

Our legislative summary is crowded out by press of local and foreign news this morning. The principal event of yesterday was the passage of the tax increase bill by 14 to 13. Mr. Kaulukou introduced a resolution to relieve the Commissioners of Crown Lands to the tune of about $11,000. To-morrow was set for consideration of the opium bill, which yesterday the house refused to have printed.

When the Opposition members support necessary items now, they are referred to in the Government organ as showing "less bitterness of tone." When the Ministry fought behind an economical mask, the Opposition in similar cases was accused of something like injudicious liberality. The Legislature is never played an economical tune by the organ now, as it was every other day in the early part of the session.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING.

W. M. G.—b—n—Mr. President—Ahem—The member for Molokai is sometimes slightly provoking—H—m—mm.

P. P. K.—n—a—Tel! he! he! I got that interpreter after all. Tel! he!

L. A. Th.—r—t—n—It is the truth all the same, and don't you forget it.

J. T. D.—r—I fancy that last speech of mine on the five judges bill was eloquent.

G. B. P.—l—h—u—Those Kauai bridges are all right at last. Now I am ready to go home.

A. S. Cl.—g—m—I don't mind it at all, but I should think the country members would kick.

R. J. Cr.—g—t—n—I'm not so inefficient, but just notice my statesmanship.
